1. OVERVIEW AND IMPORTANCE OF WAREHOUSING IN INDIA

Overview of Warehousing in India:

- After independence, the warehousing was established as an infrastructure facility to Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee (APMC).
- However due to industrialization and increase in the yield of agricultural produce the warehousing capacity failed short.
- Thus Warehousing Planning failed and which gave birth to unplanned, unscientific, and uncontrolled development of Warehousing in the country.
- There is a facility to issue Warehouse Receipt against the goods stored in state or central Warehousing corporation. The Warehouse Receipt is a negotiable instrument in banks.
- Thus function of warehouses controls the rise or fall of agricultural produce rates in the market and helps the economy of the nation.
- This planning was made for 25 to 30 years.

2. SITE SWOT ANALYSIS

The following points should be broadly considered in technical feasibility for selection of location/ land/ plot for establishing Warehousing Complex:

1. Land topography analysis.
2. Soil analysis.
3. Infrastructure nearby – Analysis (Roads, Power and Water Availability)
4. Development cost analysis.
5. Location of Warehouse Complex

Report on–"A Mentoring event/ Demo Day through YUKTI-NIR"

Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering, Lavale always aims for a better career for each of the student. Considering the future requirements and career scope, department of E-Cell arranged a Mentoring event/ Demo Day through YUKTI-NIR was conducted at Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering,Lavale on 3/10/2022 at 3:00 p.m by Dr.Nidhi Jain, IIC Convener, Yukti Coordinator.

About YUKTI – National Innovation Repository (NIR)

YUKTI – National Innovation Repository (NIR) is an initiative of Ministry of Education (MoE) Government of India and it is implemented by MoE's Innovation Cell and AICTE to build a system to repository of ideas, innovations and startups developed from academic institutions and enabling institutions to manage and nurture these innovations by offering continuous support in terms of one-to-one mentorship, grant assistance, referral and linkage with incubation units, connecting with Angel/Venture Capital (VC) investors network, knowledge agencies etc. Furthermore, the repository creation and maintenance in each HEI will also provide opportunity for innovations to take part in various national level innovation and start-up challenges/programs through a nomination process.

This YUKTI – NIR initiative is not only to complement the national movement of innovation & start-up ecosystem building in HEIs but also to supplement in strengthening the pipeline by increasing outflow of quality innovations for incubation units & investors community for further support. NIR platform will also facilitate to connect stakeholders from both demand and supply sides and match innovations with ecosystem enablers.

Institution's Innovation Councils (IICs) established in Higher Educational Institutions (HEIs) will play an instrumental role in the whole process innovation repository creation at each institute level by identifying, scouting ideas, innovations and start-ups from students, alumni/recent graduates, faculty members, staff, entrepreneurs incubated at the institute. Moreover, the portal will also enable HEI to verify the received submissions on regular basis and taking needful actions to provide handholding supports such as mentoring, grant assistance, nominate for national innovation challenges, referral & linkage with incubation units, accelerators and connect with Angel/VC networks, facilitating technology transfer etc. for the growth of innovations.

IIC institute can manage the YUKTI- NIR by clicking the 'YUKTI' icon located in the left side control panel in the IIC login page. HEI can find an URL in this subsection, which is specific to the IIC institute and this can be shared with its current students (regular), recently Graduates, alumni, faculty, staff, entrepreneurs are incubated at the incubation unit of the IIC-institute/HEI for submission of their Ideas/Innovations/Business-Model/Startups.

All submissions will be channelized through the IIC Institute/HEI only. Either applicant can register through the registration URL shared by the IIC institute (or) alternatively, eligible applicants can register and submit applications in the YUKTI webpage https://yukti.mic.gov.in/ by register directly at https://yukti.mic.gov.in/registration/new.

The important point's covered by Dr.Nidhi Jain about YUKTI in the session are:

1. YUKTI will improvise the innovation ecosystem

2. The initiative will also support the startups and technologies from academic institutions and strengthen entrepreneurship in India

3. Through YUKTI 2.0, your entrepreneurs shall be brought in contact with mentors and investors to take their innovations a step ahead

It was a positive experience for all the students and the information and the guidance given by her was enlightening which was helpful to all while entering a new growth phase.

The program led to be a successful one which was well organized by the team of E-cell under the guidance of Principal of BVCOEL Dr.R.N.Patil and Head of E-cell Dr. Nidhi Jain Response of the audience: Students asked lot of questions and cleared the queries related to start ups.

A Report on,

Geotechnical Engineering and Its Significance in Bridge Design by CWPRS

Geotechnical engineering is a specialized branch of civil engineering that focuses on the behavior, properties, and use of earth materials, including soil and rock, in the design and construction of infrastructure projects. It plays a crucial role in various aspects of civil engineering and is significant for several reasons:

1. Foundation Design: Geotechnical engineers are responsible for assessing soil and rock conditions at construction sites. This assessment helps determine the type of foundation required for structures such as buildings, bridges, dams, and towers. The choice of the appropriate foundation is critical to ensure the stability and safety of the structure.

2. Slope Stability Analysis: Geotechnical engineers analyze the stability of natural and man-made slopes to prevent landslides and slope failures. This is essential for ensuring the safety of infrastructure and protecting the environment.

3. Earthquake Engineering: In regions prone to earthquakes, geotechnical engineering is vital for designing structures that can withstand seismic forces. Engineers study soil liquefaction, ground motion, and soil-structure interaction to design earthquake-resistant buildings and infrastructure.

4. Retaining Wall Design: Retaining walls are used to support soil masses and prevent erosion. Geotechnical engineers design these walls to ensure they can withstand the lateral pressure exerted by soil and water.

5. Soil Improvement: Geotechnical engineers develop techniques to improve the engineering properties of soil, making it suitable for construction. Methods include soil compaction, grouting, and soil reinforcement using geosynthetics.

6. Pavement Design: In transportation engineering, geotechnical engineers design pavements and roadways to withstand traffic loads and environmental conditions. Soil properties and subgrade strength are crucial factors in pavement design.

7. Environmental Engineering: Geotechnical engineering plays a role in environmental projects such as landfill design, groundwater remediation, and soil erosion control. Engineers assess soil and groundwater contamination and design systems to address environmental issues.

8. Mining and Geotechnical Exploration: In mining operations, geotechnical engineers assess the stability of slopes, tunnels, and underground excavations. They also explore geological conditions to ensure safe and efficient mining practices.

9. Water Resources Management: Geotechnical engineering is essential in the design and construction of dams, levees, and other water management structures. Engineers analyze soil properties to ensure the integrity of these structures.

10. Risk Assessment: Geotechnical engineers assess the risks associated with geological and geotechnical hazards such as landslides, sinkholes, and coastal erosion. They provide recommendations for risk mitigation and disaster preparedness.

11. Infrastructure Resilience: In an era of climate change, geotechnical engineering is becoming increasingly significant for designing infrastructure that can withstand extreme weather events, rising sea levels, and changing environmental conditions.

- ## Geotechnical Engineering in Bridge Design

Geotechnical engineering plays a critical and foundational role in bridge construction. The significance of geotechnical engineering in bridge construction can be understood through various aspects:

1. Foundation Design: The foundation of a bridge is one of its most crucial components. Geotechnical engineers assess the soil and rock conditions at the bridge site to determine the appropriate foundation type (e.g., shallow foundations like spread footings or deep foundations like piles or caissons). Proper foundation design ensures the stability and longevity of the bridge.
2. Soil Bearing Capacity: Geotechnical engineers conduct soil tests to determine the bearing capacity of the soil beneath the bridge supports. This information is used to design the foundation elements that can safely support the bridge's loads, including traffic loads and environmental forces.
3. Settlement Analysis: Bridge foundations must be designed to minimize settlement, ensuring that the bridge remains level and structurally sound over time. Geotechnical engineers analyze soil settlement characteristics to develop effective foundation solutions.
4. Slope Stability: In areas with sloping terrain or near bodies of water, geotechnical engineers assess the stability of the soil to prevent erosion and slope failures that could undermine bridge supports. Measures like retaining walls and slope stabilization techniques may be required.
5. Seismic Design: In regions prone to earthquakes, geotechnical engineering is essential for designing bridges that can withstand seismic forces. Engineers analyze soil liquefaction potential and develop seismic-resistant foundation systems.
6. Geotechnical Surveys: Geotechnical investigations involve drilling boreholes, conducting laboratory tests, and analyzing soil samples. These surveys provide essential data for bridge designers and structural engineers to make informed decisions about foundation design and construction methods.
7. Risk Assessment: Geotechnical engineers assess geotechnical hazards, such as landslides, scour, or soil erosion, which can affect the stability of a bridge. They develop strategies to mitigate these risks during design and construction.
8. Environmental Impact: Bridge construction can have environmental consequences, including changes to water flow patterns and potential habitat disruption. Geotechnical engineers consider the environmental impact of bridge foundations and propose measures to minimize disruption.

9. Construction Support: During bridge construction, geotechnical engineers provide on-site support to ensure that foundations are installed correctly and meet design specifications. They may conduct tests and inspections to verify that construction practices align with geotechnical recommendations.
10. Maintenance and Rehabilitation: Over time, bridges may require maintenance, repair, or rehabilitation. Geotechnical engineers can assess the condition of bridge foundations and recommend necessary remedial measures.

- ## Soil Erosion

Geotechnical engineering plays a crucial role in addressing soil erosion, which is the process of the removal and displacement of soil by various natural and human-induced factors. Soil erosion can have detrimental effects on the environment, agriculture, infrastructure, and water resources. Geotechnical engineers employ various techniques and methods to mitigate soil erosion and protect valuable soil resources. Here's an overview of geotechnical engineering's role in addressing soil erosion:

1. Soil Erosion Causes:

Soil erosion can be caused by several factors, including:

- Water Erosion: This includes sheet erosion (thin layers of soil removed by flowing water), rill erosion (small channels forming on the soil surface), and gully erosion (larger, deeper channels caused by concentrated water flow).
- Wind Erosion: Wind can transport loose soil particles, leading to soil loss.
- Human Activities: Deforestation, urbanization, construction, and improper land management practices can exacerbate soil erosion.

2. Geotechnical Methods for Soil Erosion Control:

Geotechnical engineers employ various techniques to control and prevent soil erosion:

- Slope Stabilization: One common method is stabilizing slopes using geosynthetics, retaining walls, or vegetation. These measures prevent landslides and soil slippage.
- Erosion Control Matting: Geotechnical engineers use erosion control mats made of biodegradable materials or synthetic geotextiles to protect exposed soil surfaces. These mats help stabilize the soil and promote vegetation growth.
- Revegetation: Planting native vegetation can help bind soil particles together, reducing erosion. Geotechnical engineers consider soil types and erosion rates when selecting suitable plant species.
- Check Dams and Silt Fencing: These structures slow down and trap sediment-laden water, preventing it from flowing downhill and causing erosion.
- Riprap and Gabions: Placing rocks or gabion baskets along riverbanks and shorelines can reduce water erosion and protect against scour.

- Bioengineering: This approach combines engineering and ecological principles to stabilize slopes and control erosion using vegetation, living structures, and natural materials.
- Terracing: Terracing involves creating horizontal platforms on sloped terrain to reduce the speed of water flow, allowing sediment to settle.

3. Soil Erosion Assessment:

Geotechnical engineers conduct soil erosion assessments to understand the erosion risk, evaluate soil properties, and design appropriate erosion control measures. This may involve soil testing, hydraulic modeling, and erosion prediction.

4. Sustainable Practices:

Geotechnical engineers often advocate for sustainable land management practices, such as maintaining vegetation cover, implementing erosion control measures during construction, and avoiding overgrazing or deforestation.

5. Monitoring and Maintenance:

Continuous monitoring of erosion control measures is essential to ensure their effectiveness. Geotechnical engineers may recommend maintenance and adjustments as needed to prevent erosion.

6. Environmental Considerations:

Geotechnical engineers also consider the environmental impact of erosion control measures, aiming to strike a balance between effective erosion prevention and minimizing ecological disruption.

In summary, geotechnical engineering plays a vital role in addressing soil erosion through various methods and techniques. These efforts aim to protect soil resources, maintain the integrity of landscapes, and mitigate the environmental and economic impacts of erosion. Engineers work collaboratively with other stakeholders, including environmental scientists and land managers, to implement effective erosion control strategies.

- ## River Diversion Due to Soil Erosion

River diversion due to soil erosion is a natural process that occurs when the erosive forces of a river gradually change its course over time. This phenomenon can have significant environmental and engineering implications. Here, we'll discuss the causes and consequences of river diversion caused by soil erosion:

Causes of River Diversion by Soil Erosion:

1. Bank Erosion: Over time, the flowing water of a river can erode the banks or shores. This erosion occurs due to the sheer force of the water, which picks up and carries away soil particles, causing the riverbanks to gradually recede.
2. Meander Migration: Rivers often meander or curve in their course. As water flows around these curves, it erodes the outer bank while depositing sediment on the inner bank. This process can result in the gradual shifting of the river's course over time.
3. Sediment Transport: The eroded soil and sediment carried by the river can accumulate at various points downstream. When sediment builds up significantly, it can divert the river's flow towards areas of lower resistance, changing its course.

Consequences of River Diversion by Soil Erosion:

1. Environmental Impact: River diversion can alter the ecosystems along the riverbanks, affecting habitats for plants and wildlife. Changes in water levels and flow patterns can disrupt aquatic life.
2. Flood Risk: Altered river courses can increase the risk of flooding in areas where the river now flows. This can lead to damage to properties, infrastructure, and agricultural land.
3. Infrastructure Damage: River diversion can pose a threat to infrastructure such as roads, bridges, and buildings that were originally constructed with the assumption of a stable river course.
4. Water Quality: Changes in the flow pattern and sediment transport can affect water quality by increasing sedimentation and turbidity, potentially impacting drinking water sources and aquatic ecosystems.

Management and Mitigation:

To manage or mitigate the effects of river diversion by soil erosion, various strategies can be employed:

1. Bank Stabilization: Geotechnical engineering techniques, such as the use of riprap (large stones) or engineered structures like retaining walls, can be employed to stabilize eroding riverbanks and mitigate further soil erosion.
2. Meander Cutoffs: In some cases, controlled meander cutoffs can be created to redirect the river's course and prevent it from eroding critical areas.
3. Vegetation Planting: Planting native vegetation along riverbanks can help stabilize the soil and reduce bank erosion.
4. Sediment Management: Strategies for managing sediment transport, such as sediment basins or check dams, can be used to control the accumulation of sediment and potentially reduce river diversion.
5. Floodplain Zoning: Implementing appropriate land use and zoning regulations in flood-prone areas can help minimize the risks associated with river diversion and flooding.

6. Hydrological Studies: Conducting hydrological studies and monitoring river behavior can provide valuable data for informed decision-making and mitigation efforts.

It's important to note that river diversion due to soil erosion is a complex and often natural process. While mitigation efforts can help manage its effects, they must be carefully planned to minimize adverse impacts on the environment and local communities. Additionally, long-term monitoring and adaptive management are crucial to address evolving river dynamics and erosion patterns.

Report on

AICTE and ATAL Approved & Certified

Faculty Development Program on

Adobe Express - Digital Creativity Skills

in collaboration with

Global Talent Track, Pune

on

29th April 2023 & 6th May 2023

The Department of Computer Engineering of Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering, Lavale, Pune, in collaboration with Global Talent Track, organized an AICTE and ATAL approved Faculty Development Program on "Enhancing Digital Creativity Skills with Adobe Express". The program focused on enhancing the digital creativity skills of both Teaching and Non-Teaching Faculty Members of the Institute. The program was planned and conducted by Dr.U.C. Patkar (H.O.D.) & Prof. Parinita .J. Chate. It was greatly supported by all the Computer Department Staff Member's and our Principal Dr.R.N.Patil Sir. There were total 137 Staff members registered for this session. The sessions were conducted on 29th April and 6th May, from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.

The Guest Instructor for the Faculty Development Program was Mrs.Vaishnavi Malusare, an experienced Adobe trainer with a passion for programming. With over 16 years of experience, she has been conducting programming training sessions both online and offline at various Engineering Colleges across India. Her proficiency in delivering effective training sessions has earned her recognition among both students and faculty members. Mrs.Vaishnavi madam brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise in the field of Adobe tools and has established herself as a trusted freelancer in the industry.

During the Faculty Development Program, participants had the opportunity to acquire a wide range of skills in digital creativity. The sessions covered various aspects such as Photo Editing, Video Editing, and Presentation Making. However, one of the most remarkable highlights of the program was the instructor's demonstration of creating interactive and visually appealing web pages without the need for coding. Using the Adobe Express software, participants were guided through the process of designing captivating web pages effortlessly. This opened up new possibilities for faculty members to engage students and create immersive learning experiences through the integration of multimedia elements into their teaching materials. The practical and hands-on approach of the instructor enabled participants to grasp these skills effectively, empowering them to leverage the power of digital creativity in their academic endeavors.

Session was attained by 73 participants.

The session was organized for all the students of SE, TE, BE of the civil department. The One Day Workshop was delivered on the Teams App. This One Day workshop was organized on August27, 2021 from 10: 30 am to 02:30 pm. The speakers were Mr. Anand Reddy (Team lead and Technical Expert, CADD Centre) and Mr. Ajinkya Gaikwad (Team lead and Sr. Corporate Trainer).

In this slot Mr. Anand Reddy Sir covered STAAD PRO.STAAD PRO is one of the most widely used structural analysis and design software products worldwide. It is widely used to analyze and design structures for bridges, towers, buildings, transportation, industrial and utility structures.

Sir mentioned the applications and need to learn of the software. This software should be known to civil engineering student who is planning to develop himself in planning and designing. He demonstrated the working and efficiency of the software. Structures like stair case, water tank shear wall and solid modeling were illustrated. Installation of the STAAD PRO software was taught to the students, which would be very beneficial for the students owning laptop, for practicing and learning process.

What is MSP ?

Microsoft Project is a project management software product, developed and sold by Microsoft. It is designed to assist a project manager in developing a schedule, assigning resources to tasks, tracking progress, managing the budget, and analyzing workloads.

Microsoft Project was the company's third Microsoft Windows-based application. Within a few years after its launch, it became the dominant PC-based project management software.

It is part of the Microsoft Office family but has never been included in any of the Office suites. It is available currently in two editions, Standard and Professional. Microsoft Project's proprietary file format is .mpp.

Microsoft Project and Microsoft Project Server are the cornerstones of the Microsoft Office enterprise project management (EPM) product

Today's guest discuss about its futures and its use in civil Engineering Planning

What is Project Planning?

Project creates budgets based on assignment work and resource rates. As resources are assigned to tasks and assignment work estimated, the program calculates the cost, equal to the work times the rate, which rolls up to the task level and then to any summary tasks and finally to the project level. Resource definitions (people, equipment and materials) can be shared between projects using a shared resource pool. Each resource can have its own calendar, which defines what days and shifts a resource is available. Resource rates are used to calculate resource assignment costs which are rolled up and summarized at the resource level. Each resource can be assigned to multiple tasks in multiple plans and each task can be assigned multiple resources, and the application schedules task work based on the resource availability as defined in the resource calendars. All resources can be defined in label without limit. Therefore, it cannot determine how many finished products can be produced with a given amount of raw materials. This makes Microsoft Project unsuitable for solving problems of available materials constrained production. Additional software is necessary to manage a complex facility that produces physical goods.

What is Application?

The application creates critical path schedules, and critical chain and event chain methodology third-party add-ons also are available. Schedules can be resource leveled, and chains are visualized in a Gantt chart. Additionally, Microsoft Project can recognize different classes of users. These different classes of users can have differing access levels to projects, views, and other data. Custom objects such as calendars, views, tables, filters, and fields are stored in an enterprise global which is shared by all users.

Angel investors are people that invest in businesses seeking for higher returns than they would obtain from traditional investments. Many angel investors are actually successful entrepreneurs that want to help other entrepreneurs get their business idea working. Generally, angel investors are the bridge from the self funded business stage to the point that the business needs some funding that a venture capitalist would offer. Angel investors help small business owners to produce capital to make their productive ideas a reality. Angel investor's today not just help raise capital and provide you the necessary funds for you business idea, but they bring much more on the table – an angel investor's expertise would help you scale success in your business. The knowledge and expertise of an angel investor in a particular industry can be of a huge benefit to your early-stage company, where they can act as a mentor and offer a great insight to you on how to successfully develop, run and expand your new businesses. It is very important for you, as an entrepreneur to be proactive and select the right angel investor with expertise, especially the ones that have a firm history of entrepreneurial experience and expertise in their industry. In the same manner, the angel investor should execute effective due diligence practices on their partners, entrepreneurs and the management team before coming to or making any financial agreement. ' In addition to angel investors using their expertise in mentoring their business partners, they can also help improve your business plans. As angel investors along with their expertise play a significant role in searching for helpful solutions to impel your company's success and growth, they can easily along side with you in tailoring your business plan according to what they would believe is the most efficient policy. Known for their 'value events' that can overall improve the worth of your company, an angel investor and his expertise is important as he is a constructive and creative member of any team as he has the skills and knowledge to enhance a business' chance for success and scaling heights. This can imply recruiting a competent management team and recruiting strategic partners, as well as creating additional financial resources for the expansion for future. Depending on your organizations' financial progress, the angel investor with his expertise can also actively reorganize the firm to go public, merge, or sell-out. A lot of angel investors were once entrepreneurs themselves and today have founded many successful organizations under their leadership; hence, an angel investor with his expertise will not only give you the capital you need but can also offer you all the desired contacts, support and knowledge in helping your business grow. Angel investors' resources and insight are of an enormous value for your company's success and you should always recognize the need for help, thus encompassing the participation of you angel investor along with this expertise and industry knowledge, in your daily business activities. Many angel investors will choose to invest locally; the funds the angel investor offers for your new business would not only help the launch of your new firm but it will also create employment opportunities and help provoke economic growth by urging consumers to purchase your products. A lot of angel investors today take pride in using their expertise in giving back to the community. These are the kind of angel investors who look a lot beyond monetary return. Today, angel investors can be found almost everywhere and not just in traditional financial districts and centres. An angel investor will invest in nearly all markets around the world. The majority of the angel investors are involved in industry-specific investments, in accordance to the level of their expertise. Just like the venture capitalists, the angel investors too focus on technology, but they are also lured to various other types of industries as well. Irrespective of the market sector that an angel is involved in, what lures an angel investor to a certain venture is the potential for the firms' growth and profitability. The application of the term "angel" originally comes from Broadway theater, where it was used to describe wealthy individuals who provided money for theatrical productions that would otherwise have had to shut down. In 1978, William Wetzel, a then-professor at the University of New Hampshire and founder of its Center for Venture Research, completed a pioneering study on how entrepreneurs raised seed capital in the US. He began using the term "angel" to describe the investors who supported them. A similar term, "patron", is commonly used in arts. Angel investors are often retired entrepreneurs or executives, who may be interested in angel investing for reasons that go beyond pure monetary return. These include wanting to keep abreast of current developments in a particular business arena, mentoring another generation of entrepreneurs, and making use of their experience and networks on a less than full-time basis. Because, innovations tend to be produced by outsiders and founders in startups, rather than existing organizations, angel investors provide (in addition to funds) feedback, advice and contacts. Because there are no public exchanges listing their securities, private companies meet angel investors in several ways, including referrals from the investors' trusted sources and other business contacts; at investor conferences and symposia; and at meetings organized by groups of angels where companies pitch directly to investor in face-to-face meetings.

If you want to remain updated about the ongoing hiring trends in different companies, LinkedIn will help you to a great extent. People, who are looking for a job can follow the company pages on LinkedIn. By doing so, they will always be updated as and when the company posts any openings.

LinkedIn provides a more personable approach to recruitment, with the ability to see graduates, their interests and their employment and education history.

Having a LinkedIn profile helps build trust with employers and recruiters as they can see your recommendations and connections and evidence of where you have added value.

From a job seeker's perspective, LinkedIn is another tool that you can use to help get ahead when searching for a new job. It is important to optimize your profile and proactively use LinkedIn in order to ensure you are sourcing opportunities effectively. Utilize LinkedIn groups and follow company pages to gain access to group member profiles, find new connections, discover industry news and share your expertise within discussions.

" My Story - Motivational Session by Successful Startup founder"

The Department of Computer Engineering, Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering Lavale, Pune, aims to ignite creative thinking in the students. The department hopes to achieve this by conducting stimulating guest lectures, workshops and interactive sessions with eminent personalities and experts from various domains.

Department of Computer Engineering organized a webinar on topic, " My Story - Motivational Session by Successful Startup founder " to encourage and motivate students to think on new ideas and their own Start-up. The webinar was scheduled on the 4th of September 2021 at 11 a.m. using Microsoft Teams Platform. The Guest of honour of this session was Mr. Sajid Shaikh who is Founder of SoftEzi Solutions LLP. This webinar was a talk and interactive session with our Alumni Entrepreneur Mr. Sajid Shaikh.

The webinar started with a brief introduction of the guest, followed by his presentation. He shared his Start-up journey during the session. He was a member of E-Cell team of BVCOEL during his graduation. He described the Start-up process and explained his thoughts and views regarding Start-up Success. He also explained steps involved to launch a Start-up company and components of a Business model. Finally, towards the end of the webinar, a Q&A session was taken. The webinar was very informative, and the students and faculty members attended with full enthusiasm. This webinar was hosted by Huzaif Mujawar (TE, Computer) and co-ordinated by Prof. Prajakta Pawar (Start-Up Activity co-ordinator, BVCOELP) along with the immense support of Prof. Uday Patkar Sir (HOD, Computer Engineering BVCOELP). Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering, Lavale, Pune.

Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering, Lavale, Pune, Department of Civil Engineering had organised a Webinar on "Advanced Construction Practices" in the presence of Er. Raghuvendra Sutrave who is a Project Manager at Mahindra Lifespaces under the coordination of Prof. Swati Shegane, Prof. Neeraj Gangurde, Prof. Uday Patil (HOD Civil) and Dr. R. N. Patil (Principal). The session was organised for all the students of SE, TE, BE of the Civil Department on Microsoft Teams Platform. The session was started with a Welcome greetings to Speaker and all faculty members and students. The Webinar was focused on Mivan technology a new innovation in Formworks.

Presentation of Mivan Technology

Now a days the Construction Technology and equipment have become very advanced in India and the construction industry is experiencing a period of fast growth. Aiming to overcome the housing problems, it also has to face the dual challenge of fulfilling the needs of the client and maintain the quality standards at the same time. Hence adaption to new technologies has become necessary to survive in the competition today and hence advanced technologies are adopted such as Mivan. Mivan is a quality aluminum structure developed by a European construction company known as Mivan Company Ltd. In 1990, the company from Malaysia began manufacturing these formwork systems. This innovative form of work is actually suitable for constructing houses in large quantities at a faster speed. The speed of construction needs to be given greater importance, especially for large housing projects or township project. In order to respond to these unusual challenges in terms of time, cost and quality, the real estate industry has come up with a smart method of construction known as the "MIVAN formwork system". There are a number of buildings in Mumbai that are being constructed with the help of the Mivan technology, which has been declared economical as well as satisfying for the overall Indian real estate market.

Mivan technology has been used widely in Europe, Asia, Gulf Countries, and other parts of the globe. It is suitable for constructing a large number of houses in a short period of time using room size forms to construct walls and slabs in one constant pour on concrete. The webinar session was concluded by Prof. Neeraj Gangurde and Miss Sakshi Shinde Presenting the Vote of Thanks to the Speaker and all faculty members as well as students present for the session. The Webinar was a good source of knowledge and information about the new emerging technologies in construction industry.

"AN INNOVATIVE B.E. PROJECT IDEAS AND THEIR IMPACTS"

Webinar by Dr. Girish Potdar

""Operations keeps the lights on, strategy provides a light at the end of the tunnel, but project management is the train engine that moves the organization forward."

The Computer Engineering Department conducted a webinar on "B.E. PROJECTS AND THEIR IMPACT" on 14th January 2022. The guest of honour was Dr. Girish Potdar and the program was hosted by Hritika Srivastava. The webinar was very informative where Dr. Potdar explained the importance of B.E Projects and its impact throughout professional life to BE Students as well as the upcoming future final year students that is second- & third-year students. The best part of this session was his experience which in turned everybody with a thoughtful process to get up with an idea and start implementing it with a planned-out way. The best lines spoken by him were "If you have an idea and for some reason, you're not able to implement it, try to replace those reasons with innovative plans, and then act on them. The more innovative plans you have the more success and fortune life will lead your way and results are bound to be positive sooner or later."

Dr. Potdar an extremely friendly guest made the session an interactive one where the students came up with lots of questions and almost all the quires or doubts put forward were solved by him. The webinar ended with a wonderful vote of thanks by Prof. Parinita Chate.

Overall, the webinar was a huge success in terms of sharing of knowledge and experience. The recording of the webinar was also posted on YouTube on the official channel BVCOEL Pune for everyone to benefit from it

Report: Webinar on – "Session on achieving problem solution fit and product market fit".

Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering, Lavale always aims for a better career for each of the student. Considering the future requirements and career scope, E-Cell department arranged a Webinar on the topic "Session on achieving problem solution fit and product market fit", which was delivered by Prof. Ismail Akbani, Head- Innovation and Linkages SCEI on 17th February 2022at 2:30 p.m.

The future education system needs to be closely linked with the requirements of Industry, which requires a multidisciplinary approach. Taking such initiatives,a Session was organized on "Achieving Problem – Solution Fit & Product Market Fit".

During the session, Mr. Ismail Akbani described his Lean Product Process, a six-step methodology, and illustrated the concept with real-world examples and case studies. He said defining and developing your product can feel like an elusive task but it doesn't have to.Instead of treating it like an art form, you can turn the process into a scientific one, where theories are defined, tried and tested before the product ever gets to market. Better yet, you can do it in only six steps and still improve your overall odds of success.

The session was thoroughly enjoyed by the participants and students, and was very well organized by the team members of E-cell Prof.P.D.Pawar, Prof.L.B.Chaudhari, Prof.Swati Shegane and Prof.SagarDhamone under the guidance of Dr.NidhiJain , E-cell head and Dr.R.N.Patil, Principal, BVCOEL.Pune.

INSTITUTION'S INNOVATION COUNCIL (Ministry of Education Initiative)

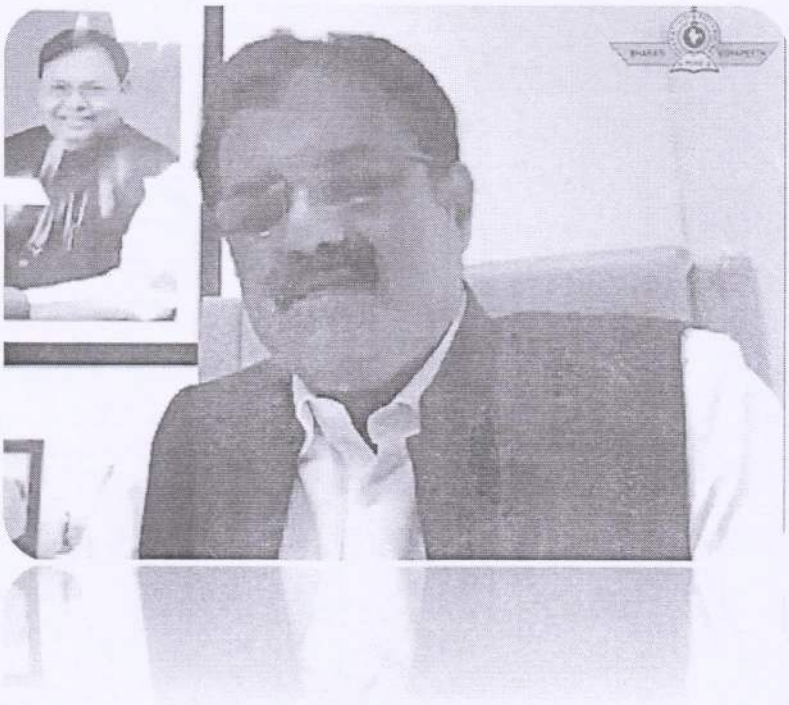
Orientation session on The National Education Policy with focus on innovation and entrepreneurship

The Union Cabinet of India approved New Education Policy named as 'The National Educational Policy 2020', on 29 July 2020. The new policy replaces the previous National Policy on Education, 1986. The New Education Policy (NEP), aims at universalization of education from pre-school to secondary level.

Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering E-Cell has organized a orientation session on 'National Education Policy, 2020'. Principal Dr. R. N. Patil has given his valuable insight regarding The National Education Policy 2020 and implementation of the same. Faculties and Students of Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering, Lavale, had attended this Orientation Session on Online Mode using Microsoft Principal Dr. R. N. Patil explained the New Education Policy 2020 in very easy and Innovative way so that students as well as faculties can understand the policy. Some of the points he thrown focus on are as follows,



What purpose does an NEP serve?

An NEP is a comprehensive framework to guide the development of education in the country. The need for a policy was first felt in 1964 when Congress MP Siddheshwar Prasad criticized the then government for lacking a vision and philosophy for education. The same year, a 17-member Education Commission, headed by then UGC Chairperson D S Kothari, was constituted to draft a national and coordinated policy on education. Based on the suggestions of this Commission, Parliament passed the first education policy in 1968.

A new NEP usually comes along every few decades. India has had three to date. The first came in 1968 and the second in 1986, under Indira Gandhi and Rajiv Gandhi respectively; the NEP of 1986 was revised in 1992 when P V Narasimha Rao was Prime Minister. The third is the NEP released Wednesday under the Prime Ministership of Narendra Modi.

What are the key takeaways?

The NEP proposes sweeping changes including opening up of Indian higher education to foreign universities, dismantling of the UGC and the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), introduction of a four-year multidisciplinary undergraduate programme with multiple exit options, and discontinuation of the M Phil programme.

In school education, the policy focuses on overhauling the curriculum, "easier" Board exams, a reduction in the syllabus to retain "core essentials" and thrust on "experiential learning and critical thinking".

In a significant shift from the 1986 policy, which pushed for a 10+2 structure of school education, the new NEP pitches for a "5+3+3+4" design corresponding to the age groups 3-8 years (foundational stage), 8-11 (preparatory), 11-14 (middle), and 14-18 (secondary). This brings early childhood education (also known as pre-school education for children of ages 3 to 5) under the ambit of formal schooling. The mid-day meal programme will be extended to pre-school children. The NEP says students until Class 5 should be taught in their mother tongue or regional language.

The policy also proposes phasing out of all institutions offering single streams and that all universities and colleges must aim to become multidisciplinary by 2040.

How will these reforms be implemented?

The NEP only provides a broad direction and is not mandatory to follow. Since education is a concurrent subject (both the Centre and the state governments can make laws on it), the reforms proposed can only be implemented collaboratively by the Centre and the states. This will not happen immediately. The incumbent government has set a target of 2040 to implement the entire policy. Sufficient funding is also crucial; the 1968 NEP was hamstrung by a shortage of funds.

The government plans to set up subject-wise committees with members from relevant ministries at both the central and state levels to develop implementation plans for each aspect of the NEP. The plans will list out actions to be taken by multiple bodies, including the HRD Ministry, state Education Departments, school Boards, NCERT, Central Advisory Board of Education and National Testing Agency, among others. Planning will be followed by a yearly joint review of progress against targets set.

What does the emphasis on mother tongue/regional language mean for English-medium schools?

Such emphasis is not new: Most government schools in the country are doing this already. As for private schools, it's unlikely that they will be asked to change their medium of instruction. A senior ministry official clarified to The Indian Express that the provision on mother tongue as medium of instruction was not compulsory for states. "Education is a concurrent subject. Which is why the policy clearly states that kids will be taught in their mother tongue or regional language 'wherever possible'," the officer said.

What about people in transferable jobs, or children of multilingual parents?

The NEP doesn't say anything specifically on children of parents with transferable jobs, but acknowledges children living in multilingual families: "Teachers will be encouraged to use a bilingual approach, including bilingual teaching-learning materials, with those students whose home language may be different from the medium of instruction."

How does the government plan to open up higher education to foreign players?

The document states universities from among the top 100 in the world will be able to set up campuses in India. While it doesn't elaborate the parameters to define the top 100, the incumbent government may use the 'QS World University Rankings' as it has relied on these in the past while selecting universities for the 'Institute of Eminence' status. However, none of this can start unless the HRD Ministry brings in a new law that includes details of how foreign universities will operate in India.

It is not clear if a new law would enthuse the best universities abroad to set up campuses in India. In 2013, at the time the UPA-II was trying to push a similar Bill, The Indian Express had reported that the top 20 global universities, including Yale, Cambridge, MIT and Stanford, University of Edinburgh and Bristol, had shown no interest in entering the Indian market.

Participation of foreign universities in India is currently limited to them entering into collaborative twinning programmes, sharing faculty with partnering institutions and offering distance education. Over 650 foreign education providers have such arrangements in India.

How will the four-year multidisciplinary bachelor's programme work?

This pitch, interestingly, comes six years after Delhi University was forced to scrap such a four-year undergraduate programme at the incumbent government's behest. Under the four-year programme proposed in the new NEP, students can exit after one year with a certificate, after two years with a diploma, and after three years with a bachelor's degree.

"Four-year bachelor's programmes generally include a certain amount of research work and the student will get deeper knowledge in the subject he or she decides to major in. After four years, a BA student should be able to enter a research degree programme directly depending on how well he or she has performed... However, master's degree programmes will continue to function as they do, following which student may choose to carry on for a PhD programme," said scientist and former UGC chairman V S Chauhan.

What impact will doing away with the M Phil programme have?

Chauhan said this should not affect the higher education trajectory at all. "In normal course, after a master's degree a student can register for a PhD programme. This is the current practice almost all over the world. In most universities, including those in the UK (Oxford, Cambridge and others), M Phil was a middle research degree between a master's and a PhD. Those who have entered MPhil, more often than not ended their studies with a PhD degree. MPhil degrees have slowly been phased out in favour of a direct PhD programme."

Will the focus on multiple disciplines not dilute the character of single-stream institutions, such as IITs?

The IITs are already moving in that direction. IIT-Delhi has a humanities department and set up a public policy department recently. IIT-Kharagpur has a School of Medical Science and Technology. Asked about multiple disciplines, IIT-Delhi director V Ramgopal Rao said, "Some of the best universities in the US such as MIT have very strong humanities departments. Take the case of a civil engineer. Knowing how to build a dam is not going to solve a problem. He needs to know the environmental and social impact of building the dam. Many engineers are also becoming entrepreneurs. Should they not know something about economics? A lot more factors go into anything related to engineering today."

This session was indeed a highly informative and useful resource for students to boost their knowledge about start-up, idea generation, innovation, and entrepreneurship. Not only students but also professors of Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering Lavale showed their active participation. The students are thankful to the speaker Principal Dr. R. N. Patil for giving her valuable time. They all are grateful for the respective HODs and professors for motivating them to attend such beneficial webinars which will help them to shape their career.

Webinar by Dr. Pravin Laxman Kothawade

"Set peace of mind as your highest goal, and organize your life around it."

The Computer Engineering Department conducted a webinar on "STRESS MANAGEMENT IN THE MODERN ERA" on 6th March 2021. The guest of honour was Dr. Pravin Laxman Kothawade and the program was hosted by Bhagyashree Patil and Hritika Srivastava. The webinar was very informative where Dr. Kothawade explained the problems of today's era especially in youth and how we can overcome it. The best lines spoken by him were "If you are feeling unhappy in life for any reason and often getting negative thoughts, try to replace negative thoughts with the positive one, make a plan and act on them. The more positive thoughts you have the more positive and happy you will become and results are bound to be positive sooner or later."

Dr. Kothawade made the session an interactive one where the students came up with lots of questions and almost all the quires or doubts put forward were solved by him. The webinar ended with a wonderful vote of thanks by Prof. Parinita Chate.

Overall, the webinar was a huge success in terms of sharing of knowledge and experience. The recording of the webinar was also posted on YouTube on the official channel BVCOEL Pune for everyone to benefit from it.

" Savitribai Phule Punya din Event: Aamhi Savitrichya Leki "

The Department of Computer Engineering, Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering Lavale, Pune, arranged a program to honor the contribution of Savitribai Phule towards society, women empowerment, and education.

Dnyanjyoti Krantijyoti Savitribai Phule

Savitribai Phule is one of India's modern feminists and remembered for being India's first female teacher who worked for the upliftment of women and untouchables in the field of education and literacy. She demanded dignity for all women, for which she, along with her husband Jyotirao Phule worked their entire lives. The principles of humanity, equality, liberty, and justice were of utmost importance to her. During a time when women were mere objects, she ignited a spark that led to equality in education – something which was impossible before.

Savitribai Phule's poems and other writings continue to be an inspiration for many and remain pioneering in the struggle against India's caste system. She has put together some very valuable writing such as Kavyaphule- Collection of poems, Bavan Kashi Subodh Ratnakar, poem entitled "Go, Get Education" etc.

To remember and honor the contribution of Savitribai Phule Department of Computer Engineering organized a program " Savitribai Phule Punya din Event: Aamhi Savitrichya Leki ". The event was scheduled on the 10th of March 2021 at 10:30 a.m. using Microsoft Teams Platform. The Guest of honour of this session was Mrs. Yogita Pakhale who is an author, poet, and well-known anchor. To remember Savitribai Phule on her death anniversary, Mrs. Yogita has discussed about Education, early life, Struggles, career, and other work of Savitribai Phule. Also, she has shared many poems with the participants. During this event we come to know about interesting facts about Savitribai Phule(Epitome of Resistance, Modernity and Empowerment).

This event was hosted by Huzaif Mujawar (TE, Computer) and co-ordinated by Prof. Prajakta Pawar (BVCOELP) along with the great support of Prof. Uday Patkar Sir (HOD, Computer Engineering BVCOELP). Around 65 people actively participated in this program.

Overall, the session was very inspiring for the students and well appreciated by all participants.

"Exploring Ways to Face Real Life Engineering Challenges"

Department of Mechanical Engineering of Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering, Lavale, Pune, has organized the webinar on "Exploring Ways to Face Real Life Engineering Challenges",on 13-March-2021 Saturday from 10:30am to 12:00noon. The webinar was conducted online by Mr. Jayant V Khade, Deputy Superintending Engineer, WRD, Government Of Maharashtra, in the presence of HOD of all branches or BVCOE, Lavale, faculty members and studentsof BVCOE, Lavale.

The speaker Mr. Jayant V Khade has explained that while problem-solving skills are regarded as critical for college students and much effort is put into developing college students' problem-solving skills, but such skills are still absent from college graduates.

Sir mentioned that one reason may be the misconception of problem-solving skills. Current problem-solving instruction assumes that learning to solve new problems is of utmost important and to achieve this goal instruction should mimic the problem-solving process. Also students will not perform equally in learning and produce different learning outcomes. The problem-solving instruction should be adapted to satisfy individual needs by taking account for these differences. At last he mentioned that young mind is being considered, as the most productive members of the society, due to their physical and intellectual capability. But in real scenario, most of them are unable to utilize their potential in an appropriate way due to lack of guidance and motivation, and teachers and faculties can play important role in providing that guidance and motivation.

Total 114 participants were present for this webinar from BVCOE, LAvale

Skill-based learning refers to an educational approach that focuses on developing specific, practical skills rather than just acquiring theoretical knowledge. This type of learning is often hands-on and application-oriented, emphasizing the mastery of abilities that are directly relevant to a particular profession or field. Skill-based learning is gaining prominence across various industries and educational settings due to its effectiveness in preparing individuals for real-world challenges. Here are key aspects and benefits of skill-based learning:

1. Practical Application:
    - Skill-based learning emphasizes the practical application of knowledge. Learners actively engage in tasks and projects that require the application of specific skills.
2. Relevance to Industry Needs:
    - The skills taught are directly relevant to the needs of specific industries or professions. This ensures that learners acquire the capabilities sought by employers, making them more employable.
3. Hands-On Training:
    - Learning by doing is a fundamental principle of skill-based learning. It often involves hands-on training, simulations, internships, and other experiential learning methods.
4. Adaptability:

- Skill-based learning fosters adaptability by preparing individuals to respond to evolving industry trends and technological advancements. It equips learners with the ability to quickly apply their skills in new and changing environments.

5. Problem-Solving Skills:
   - The emphasis on practical skills inherently involves problem-solving. Learners develop the ability to analyze situations, identify challenges, and apply their skills to find effective solutions.
6. Efficient Learning Curve:
   - Skill-based learning can result in a more efficient learning curve. By focusing on specific skills, learners can acquire the necessary competencies in a shorter timeframe compared to traditional, more comprehensive approaches.
7. Personalized Learning:
   - This approach allows for more personalized learning experiences. Learners can tailor their education to focus on the skills that align with their career goals and interests.
8. Measurable Outcomes:
   - Skill-based learning often leads to tangible and measurable outcomes. Assessments can be designed to evaluate the mastery of specific skills, providing a clear indication of a learner's proficiency.
9. Continuous Improvement:
   - Given the dynamic nature of many industries, skill-based learning encourages a mindset of continuous improvement. Professionals are motivated to continually update and enhance their skills throughout their careers.
10. Collaborative Learning:
    - Many skills are best learned through collaboration. Skill-based learning often involves teamwork, communication, and the ability to work effectively with others.
11. Career Advancement:

Report on Webinar on:- Introduction to CFD & Career opportunities in CFD for UG students, on 26th May 2020.

Speakers/Resource Persons for the Webinar:- Dr. Shashi Kant Verma (Post doctoral fellow Institute for Plasma Research, Gandhinagar- Gujarat)

The Mechanical Engineering Department Bharati Vidyapeeth's College of Engineering, Lavale, Pune, conducted webinar on "Introduction to CFD & Career opportunities in CFD for UG students" on 26th May 2020, organized for students of mechanical department.

Computational Fluid Dynamics (CFD) is a branch of fluid mechanics that uses numerical methods and algorithms to solve and analyze problem that involves fluid flow. CFD modeling is based on fundamental governing equations of fluid dynamics: the conservation of mass, momentum, and energy.CFD helps to predict the fluid flow behavior based on the mathematical modeling using software tools.It is now widely used and is acceptable as a valid engineering tool in the industry. CFD being an important subject and skill in industry as well as academia was discussed. The webinar was organized to develop interest among students for the subject of CFD. Moreover, to motivate them to learn various CFD tools.

Dr. Shashi Kant Verma started the session with an introduction to CFD and explained the fundamentals of CFDincluding basic terminology, grid generation, fluid flow analysis. He also elaborated on importantconcepts of equations governing fluid flow and heat transfer – Navier-Stokes equations and Energy Equation. He also discussed about some commercial CFD software ANSYS ICEM CFD and ANSYS Fluent to students. He also explained three primary steps to solve any fluid flow problem using CFD, which are Pr-Processing, Solver and Post-Processing. Later he also discussed few solved examples.

At the speaker discussed about the career opportunitiesavailable for students in field of CFD, and addressed few question from students.

Appreciation letter is given to speaker Dr. Shashi Kant Verma, and all students who attended the webinar were given E-Certificate for participation.

Guest Lecture Report.

Topic:- "Opportunities for students in HVAC Industries"

Date:- 20/07/2018

Speaker:- Mr. Vijay Khapote (HVAC Consultant)

Installation of ISHRAE Student Chapter and Oath taking ceremony of Chapter Working Committee (CWC) for the academic year-2018-19, is been done on 20th July 2018, in presence of Chief guest Mr. Vijay Kapote (Founder V. J. Consultant).

During the ceremony Principal sir guided students regarding the importance of professional bodies for engineering. Mr Vijay Kapote also guided students about "Opportunities for Students in HVAC&R Industries"

Mr. Kapote explained how HVAC professionals every day solve problems. Heating and air service technicians need to be able to look at a system, figure out why it isn't working, and make the repair. It takes mechanical skill, technical aptitude, and practical knowledge. Every furnace or air conditioning repair requires the ability to look at the entire system and fix the problem. It can be immensely gratifying to be faced with new challenges in HVAC industries. He also explains that even with his years of experience, heating and air conditioning service still offers a challenge.

Mr. Kapote himself as a HVAC consultant agrees it's a field that offers the chance for continual hands-on learning.

Guest Lecture Report.

Topic:- "Project Management"

Date:- 30/08/2018

Speaker:- Mr. Mangesh Deshmukh Sr. Project Manager Panchshil Realty

Definition

A simple definition of project management includes a handful of key premises:

- Project management is no small task.
- Project management has a definite beginning and end. It's not a continuous process.
- Project management uses various tools to measure accomplishments and track project tasks. These include Work Breakdown Structures, Gantt charts and PERT charts.
- Projects frequently need ad-hoc resources rather than dedicated, full-time positions common in organisations.
- Project management reduces risk and increases the chance of success.

Mr. Mangesh Deshmukh is Sr. Project Manager (Projects and Service) at Panchshil Realty and also CWC member at ISHRAE Pune chapter, he is having 17+ years' experience in HVAC field. He discussed the application of Project Management for students. He explained how many organisations today don't employ full-time project managers. Indeed, it's common to pull together a project team to meet a pa ticular need, one that usually involves producing an end product or service that benefits the organisation or effects change. The end result can be tangible or intangible. Getting to that end result, successfully, is what project management is all about. At its core, then, project management centres on the planning and control of everything involved in delivering the end result - and it's a process that every person on a project team needs to embrace, understand and execute, no matter the experience level. Even if you lack academic skills in a project methodology, taking a role in a project team provides an excellent learning opportunity, one that can improve your career profile.

Even if you're an experienced manager or team member, a review of the critical - and most basic - elements of project management can inform and improve how effectively you take projects from concept to concrete plan and through to completion. With that in mind, here's an overview of all that project management encompasses.

To: Rajendrakumar Patil <rajendrakumar.patil@bharatividyapeeth.edu>

Dear Sir/Madam,

It gives us immense pleasure in launching Atal Community Innovation Centre (ACIC) under the aegis of Atal Innovation Mission (AIM) - NITI Aayog's flagship initiative to promote a culture of innovation and entrepreneurship in the country. ACIC has a vision of creating cutting edge innovation platforms across all corners of our country, with a focus on Smart Cities, Aspirational Districts, Tier 2, and 3 cities, North-east, J&K and unserved/under-served regions of Tier 1 cities which will boost skills development and employment opportunities in these areas.
ACIC's grassroots-level approach will focus on building a community-oriented problem-solving mechanism within the reaches of citizens. ACICs will become a conduit for CSR funding by private and public sector firms in addition to direct support through Atal Innovation Mission (AIM).

The establishment of ACIC offers:-

- Promoting a design thinking process to spur community focused innovation
- Creating local, national and global synergy with all stakeholders in the ecosystem
- Conduit CSR funds to ensure the financial sustainability of ACICs
- Facilitating collaboration of ACICs with 100+ incubation centres under AIM
- Leveraging mentoring a network consisting of 10k mentors under AIM
- Enabling innovation in local clusters
- Create an atmosphere where different communities can learn from each other

The call for application to establish ACIC in the above-said areas in your state is now open. Applications are invited under the following categories:
1. Academic - Any UGC and AICTE affiliated University and educational Institutions like ITIs and other technical diploma colleges are eligible to apply for ACIC as academic applicant.
2. Non-Academic - Voluntary and other organizations having good experience and exposure in awareness and promotion of Science & Technology in the country can apply in the non-academic pool.

This is a unique project of wherein Public Private Partnership (PPP) funding is encouraged. AIM shall support up to Rs. 2.5 Cr over five years' subject to matching contribution by funding agency or by the applicant themselves. The CSR Fund or District Innovation Fund can also be leveraged for establishing such initiatives in your state. Further details are given in the attached brochure and can also be accessible over www.aim.gov.in/acic.

You are requested to kindly spread the knowledge of this initiative to Academic Institutions and Boards dealing with technical, vocational, engineering, architecture, pharmacy, applied arts and crafts education and other relevant stakeholders associated with you, to get support in establishing Atal Community Innovation Centers in all States and UTs.

Dr. Nidhi Jain: Pl. study and discuss. RPatil 5.9.19

In case of any query, please feel free to reach out to Dr. Unnat Pandit, Program Director, Atal Innovation Mission (AIM), NITI Aayog at pandit.unnat@nic.in.
